

Individual Pupil Mobility: Designing Learning Agreements Based on Transversal Competences

Would you like to know how to design a feasible and relevant Learning Agreement for individual pupil mobility?

Are you eager to learn more about recognition of transversal competences in individual pupil mobility?

Do you want to get inspired on non-formal education activities which will form part of individual pupil mobility?

Are you looking to exchange good practices with teachers from all over Europe?

Educational institutions should be challenged to improve certain skills necessary in the process of facilitating mobility of both learners and educators that would foster international cooperation in the academic system.

As the diversity of the world is represented within our classrooms, and in society at large, it is crucial to develop intercultural skills through various activities both inside and outside the institutions. This specific training aims to help teachers and educational staff reflect on their own intercultural awareness and be able to empower both pupils and institutions with intercultural mentality. Participants will also have a chance to learn how to ease the integration of an exchange pupil into a new environment.

Aimed at:

- Teachers from secondary schools;
- School counsellors/Career advisors;
- Any educational staff working within intercultural learning and/or learning mobility.

About the hosting organisation:

The European Federation for Intercultural Learning (EFIL) is the European umbrella of the 25 AFS organisations in Europe. EFIL is a key partner of the EU and the CoE on matters related to intercultural learning, pupil mobility and recognition of outcomes of learning periods abroad, working to promote the development of intercultural competence since the 50s. Today, AFS is the second biggest secondary school exchange programme provider globally with a network of 500.000+ alumni. In 2019, AFS organisations around the world sent and hosted almost 12.000 young people in 113 countries, and formed 17.000+ school alliances.
